

THE TALE OF THE FLUTE PLAYER WHO MADE THE ANIMALS DANCE

There once was a flute player who lived in the woods,
it seemed to him the loneliest of neighbourhoods.

Sometimes the quietness made him blue,
the days were long, sad was their hue.

To music he then turned to escape his mood,
and many sweet notes flowed from his flute.

At the sound of music, the animals appeared:
the bear, the fox and a rabbit – all endeared.

In joined the owl, the woodpecker and a dove,
the flute player felt so touched by their love.

Surrounded by friends, life is a breeze,
and the flute player is now happily dancing among the trees.

Always remember that all you need is a friend,
for any lonely feelings to well and truly end.

Good night and sweet dreams!

from Anna & Clara

